

ASCENT LAUNCHES TWO NEW COURSEWARE TITLES

Mississauga, ON, September 29, 2005 – RAND A Technology Corporation [TSX:RND], operating as RAND Worldwide, announces that its wholly-owned subsidiary, ASCENT – Center for Technical Knowledge, has launched two new courseware titles, Autodesk VIZ 2006 Level 1 and Architectural Desktop 2006 Update for ADT 2004/2005 Users.

The newly redesigned Autodesk VIZ 2006 Level 1 course is developed to provide users with a systematic introduction to the application through a comprehensive set of topics to get optimal usage out of the application and create evocatively realistic visualizations.

ASCENT's Architectural Desktop 2006 Update for ADT 2004/2005 Users is an aggressive introductory course highlighting the 2006 features and functionality to enable experienced 2004 and 2005 users to create their architectural documentation quickly and efficiently.

"We continually work to improve the way the AEC market utilizes its software tools in order to increase their productivity," comments Joe Oswald, Executive Vice President, RAND Worldwide. "These two new releases will enable users to acquire the necessary skills to become completely proficient in their software programs."

ASCENT is planning to release several new titles later this fall for Autodesk's Revit Building, Inventor, and Civil 3D applications. The company's complete courseware line-up for Autodesk, Dassault Systèmes, and PTC software solutions can be seen at www.ASCENTed.com/courseware.htm.
